

Robert A. Hill
820 Arcadia Pl.
Colorado Springs, CO 80903

December 8, 2008

This letter is to recommend the residential construction firm of Kenton Pass and Company as a high quality, professional home construction and remodeling contractor.

During the first half of 2008, Kenton contracted the addition of a room on our residence. The new space is a testament to Kenton's careful management of the job and his selection of quality subcontractors. Kenton was unstinting with advice and counsel, and worked closely with the architect right from the initial planning stages.

The work of his subcontracting firms is top notch, from the poured concrete floor to the finished trim carpentry. The subcontracting personnel at the job site were unfailingly courteous and accommodating during a process which can sometimes prove inconvenient and even stressful to any homeowner.

In spite of having to visit multiple job sites, Kenton's presence on our job was regular and effective. He attended to the smallest details, insured that oversights were remedied, and that any mistakes were promptly corrected. His management, both of the job and the people on the site, was steady, professional, always cordial and respectful.

We are very pleased with the new space in our home and always proud to show it to visitors. We can recommend Kenton as a congenial working partner and his company as a quality contracting firm.

Sincerely,

Robert A. Hill