To Whom It May Concern:

Kenton Pass & Company were the contractors on a recent (June 2008) remodel of a 1980's condo that I purchased. The condo had some nice features such as high ceilings and many large windows, however, the interior style and architecture was extremely linear and outdated and frankly boring.

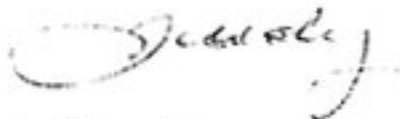

Kenton was fabulous at taking many of my design concepts and building on these. He advised me honestly and fairly about which ideas would work well and which may be cost prohibitive. Once he began construction, we ran into some unforeseen issues as he took down walls, etc. Yet, Kenton creatively thought through those issues and the end product was even more elegant than I had imagined.

I was completely impressed by each subcontractor who did the electrical, plumbing, floors, walls, etc., without exception their skills and expertise in their area of specialty was to perfection.

Possibly the most important part of this entire project for me was how wonderfully kind, respectful, caring and flexible each person I worked with was. Kenton's leadership and coordination of his subcontractors and the relational intelligence he employs is apparent throughout his organization.

Best of all, I love my new home; the transformation from 1980's to European upscale flat is profound!

Most Sincerely &
With Deepest Thanks to Kenton Pass & Company,

Trudy Strewler

P.S. Kenton built a home for me in 1995 which was also fabulous and is why I contracted with him for this remodel. His wife Ricky also helped me with some interior decorating. Her work is also extraordinary and she is lovely to work with as well.
